

Biography – Tamika Lang

As Community Investor and Education Subject Matter expert for The Boeing Company, Tamika oversees a philanthropic investment portfolio over $1 million and serves as the steward of company resources in Pre-K, primary and secondary education throughout California. In addition, she supports a local site of over 5,000 employees. Tamika interacts with internal and external networks to assess community needs, leverage resources, and maximize investment outcomes. Tamika's responsibilities in Global Corporate Citizenship have grown from local to state-wide reach, including leadership of enterprise wide initiatives during her three years with the Boeing Company.

Prior to coming to Boeing, Tamika was Program Manager for the TPC Foundation in Los Angeles where she managed grant writing and program development. Tamika received her Master of Public Policy at the University of Southern California as a HUD Community Development Fellow. During this time she worked with the public and private sector in community and economic development. Tamika completed her undergraduate work at Loyola Marymount University in Westchester, CA. She serves on the Loyola Marymount University Alumni Board of Directors and the El Segundo and Long Beach Education Foundation Boards.

Tamika enjoys exploring new communities, cooking, and is an active member of her home church. Tamika resides in Long Beach, California, with her husband, Dr. Yoshado Lang, and their two cats.
