Diana Schulz

Cyber- Rain
CEO

Diana Schulz joined Cyber-Rain in September 2008 and has overseen the launch of the commercial product line, expansion into the wholesale market and the doubling of sales. While at Cyber-Rain, she has been recognized as one of America's Most Promising Socially Conscious Entrepreneurs by Business Week and a leading CleanTech CEO by Women Entrepreneur. She was previously CEO of the venture-backed Joann.com e-commerce site, where she grew revenues 40% and negotiated a successful exit. Prior experience includes heading Corporate Development and Strategic Planning at Universal Studios and consulting at McKinsey & Company. She received her MBA from Stanford University.
