Dr. Michael R. Cousineau

USC Keck School of Medicine
Associate Professor of Research,
Department of Community Health Family Medicine

Michael R. Cousineau is Associate Professor of Research in the Department of Family Medicine and Preventive Medicine at the USC Keck School of Medicine. His research focuses on access to care for the low income uninsured population, operation of safety-net providers including public hospitals and community health centers; and health needs of homeless people. He has studied the impact of initiatives designed to expand health insurance to adults and children, the dynamics of insurance coverage decisions by small businesses, alternative governance of safety net hospitals, and the health and mental health needs of the homeless. His publications appear in American Journal of Public Health, Medical Care, Public Health Reports, Evaluation Review and the Journal of Community Health.
